Welcome!

Congratulations, and welcome to your role as chapter vice president of your ISACA chapter!! The chapter vice president serves as the co-lead of the chapter and is seen by the members and the community as a local representative of ISACA. The vice president assists the chapter president in directing the chapter activities and efforts to ensure professional and personal growth for the members, as well as chapter sustainability. The chapter vice president reports to the chapter president.

Be sure to review the chapter president's roles and responsibilities for awareness in case the chapter president is unable to perform duties or needs assistance.

Roles and Responsibilities of the Chapter Vice President

Governance

- Maintain data privacy, per chapter and ISACA policies, as well as local regulations (e.g., GDPR).
- Assist the chapter president in preparing and monitoring the chapter's strategic plans.
- Act as ex-officio member of all committees as determined by the chapter president.
- Perform duties in the absence of the chapter president, as needed.

General Leadership

- In the absence of the chapter president, or as directed by the chapter president, preside over regular and special meetings of the chapter and chapter's board (see Meetings below).

- Assist the chapter president and secretary with the development of board meeting agendas.
- Help the chapter president with directing chapter activities and establishing a chapter calendar, including target dates for task completion.
- Act as liaison between committees and the chapter board, as needed. Ensure performance standards for committees are maintained. Provide support, as needed.
- Coordinate with chapter officers to identify potential new board members and volunteers. Recruit members for chapter board and committees.
- Aid the chapter president in the budget process.
- Support the chapter president with oversight of all succession plans for board positions.
- Advise and mentor new officers, directors, chairs, and volunteers on chapter information, matters, and processes, as needed.
- With the chapter president, co-supervise paid staff, if any.
- Assist the chapter president with the oversight of website content.
- Serve as the secondary contact for establishing relationships with other professional organizations in the chapter's market area.

Meetings

If any circumstances prevent the chapter president from attending a meeting, the chapter vice president should take the lead and, if necessary, should:

- Collaborate with the chapter secretary to develop an agenda for the board meeting.
- Meet with the chapter treasurer to review the chapter budget before presentation at the meeting.
- Preside over both regular and special meetings of the chapter and chapter's board, as needed.
- Comply with the chapter bylaws for meetings.
- Declare and adjudicate motions.
- Set the time for the next meeting.

Mentoring

The chapter president and vice president, together, should mentor all chapter volunteers, as needed. If it is determined that a volunteer is not fulfilling their respective duties, the chapter president or vice president should mentor the volunteer or identify an appropriate person to do so.

Succession Planning

Though it varies from chapter to chapter (according to the chapter bylaws), your term as a chapter officer will eventually come to an end. Just as you likely found it beneficial to "Learn from your Predecessor," it would be helpful to offer a one-on-one handover meeting to the individual coming into your role.

During this meeting, you can share your insights, experiences, tips, and updates on current initiatives. Offer support and guidance to help the incoming treasurer build on all the hard work and time you devoted to the chapter. For example, you could develop a transition procedure (e.g., checklist) to help ensure most key activities are covered, and ongoing support and attention is given to items that take longer than one term to accomplish.

Turnover Procedures

When turning over to a new chapter vice president, the following tasks should be completed:

- Coordinate a meeting with the incoming chapter vice president.
- Transfer post office box keys (if applicable) to new chapter vice president.

- Turn over current correspondence files to the new vice president and be sure to include any chapter support items provided by ISACA throughout the year, as some of these items are not reproduced on an annual basis.
- Assist the chapter president with any other turnover procedures, as needed.
